

I can't get any controlled impendence information for JLCPCB Flex-PCB, so for now I just route the signal just straight.

|                                                                                                                           |              |                    |           |                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|--------------------|-----------|----------------|
| Schematic                                                                                                                 | Display Flex |                    | Create at | 2025-11-10     |
|                                                                                                                           |              |                    | Update at | 2025-11-12     |
| Board                                                                                                                     | Display-Flex |                    | Page      | FPC            |
| Drawn                                                                                                                     |              | piBrick Pocket-CM5 |           |                |
| Reviewed                                                                                                                  |              |                    |           |                |
|                                                                                                                           |              | Version            | Size      | Page 1 Total 1 |
|  amarulz.comopen source hardware |              | V1.0               | A3        | EasyEDA.com    |